

City urged to develop comprehensive plan

by Lynne Locke

Upland needs to develop a comprehensive planning program in order to control the city's future growth. That was one conclusion of a meeting Monday night between the City Council and planning consultant Owen Menard, whose firm has reviewed Upland's General Plan.

Menard called the Upland General Plan a "build out" or "horizon year" plan which expects full growth in which "every piece of land" would be covered with development.

The present General Plan leaves a "fairly open door" to developers, Menard said and commented Upland should take control of development rather than leaving the control to land owners and developers.

Planning Director Bill Young supported Menard's call for more comprehensive planning. The city has dealt with each aspect of development as it happened and has made fortunate choices, Young said but added, "rapid growth just caught up with the whole thing."

Now the question is whether Upland "can continue to accommodate growth. I can't tell you the answer" because there isn't enough information available, he said.

Young, who has been planning director for four months, said the planning staff is so busy handling development matters and special studies requested by the council that there is no time for the necessary long-range planning.

Noting the economic impossibility of hiring more planners, Councilman Bill Bottin suggested the city might have to slow development in order to have time to study Upland's future. Instead of opening the door for future problems, he said, "we ought to close the door now" and evaluate the situation.

The General Plan report suggests a phased-growth policy for Upland noting the city will reach its anticipated population of 60,000 - 70,000 people within 10 years.

"This rate of growth should cause the city to reconsider its capacity to budget for improvements and services necessary to serve this amount of growth. If the city should determine there is a reasonable amount of doubt about its ability to provide adequate services, it should seriously consider some form of phased growth policy," the report states.

The report also lists a number of studies which would provide the information needed by city officials and staff to make decisions on Upland's development. The 16 studies, ranging from a noise study to a study of Cucamonga Channel, would cost an estimated $100,000 - $130,000.

Community goals

But probably the most important step for Upland would be for officials, staff, residents, and business interests to set clear goals for the kind of city they want Upland to be.

Analysis of community attitudes and formulation of community goals is "the most profound move a city like Upland can take," Menard said.

"No city has administered and followed its general plan better than Upland, and the city can be proud of the fact it has one of the most beautiful and best maintained streets in Southern California," he said but added that Upland's condition should be considered in the context of San Gabriel Valley and the Los Angeles metropolitan area. "The concern is to protect the beauty, environment and a certain amount of open space," Menard commented.

The General Plan study states, "Upland is at the crossroads in terms of its ultimate development. It is critical that citizens of Upland pause to reflect on the ways in which Upland should develop."

The $7,500 study warns that Upland's future growth must occur in "an orderly and desired manner" if Upland is to avoid "becoming another suburban sprawl."

Foothill Freeway

City officials questioned Menard about particular sections of the 140-page document, with particular interest in the impact of the proposed Foothill Freeway, and continued single-family and multiple - family residential development.

Responding to Planning Commissioner Frank Carpenter's question about the growth - inducing qualities of the Foothill Freeway, Menard briefly described a future in which the presence of the freeway will encourage people with expensive homes to move away from the noise and congestion.

That flight would be followed by rapid free enterprise redevelopment encouraging replacement of single-family homes with multiple - family developments as well as additional commercial and industrial uses.

Carpenter disagreed with Menard's description of the freeway's results and commented that the freeway would benefit Upland by decreasing pollution and congestion along Foothill Boulevard. The freeway would provide a fast route for those who pass through Upland and leave their smog behind, he said.

Apartments

Council members noted the report's comments that Foothill Boulevard may have too much land planned for commercial development and asked Menard what other uses would be compatible with a major street.

The only three possible land uses along Foothill Boulevard are commercial, industrial and multiple - family, Menard said. Recognizing that some council members - notably Mayor George Gibson - have stated opposition to further apartment development, Menard said, "I'm not sure I share that feeling. It's better to have moderate to low-density apartments of a fairly high quality than vacant commercial."

Multiple - family developments are economically advantageous to the city and produce less traffic and pollution than commercial uses on the same property, Menard commented.

Many Uplanders have the misconception that single - family homes are economically better for the city than multiple - family developments, he said and added, "Most single - family home owners don't know how much of their taxes go to the city. They don't realize they don't pay their own way."

The Menard study advises the city to re-evaluate the type of residential development. If the goal of Upland as a city of single - family homes is to be reaffirmed, "the citizens should be aware of what this option means in the terms of taxpayer dollars," the report comments.

Commission stand gets little support

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council Monday night gave Architectural Commission members somewhat lukewarm support for requiring developers to provide more variety in the appearance of homes being built in Upland.

The same house design is used "time and time again in different tracts" so the "same houses are popping up in many different areas," commented Planning Commission Chairman Robert Bonde.

The result is repetition of the design and character, he said in asking for council support "to get a turn-around and improve the image of the city."

Council members agreed the commission should work with developers to encourage more diversity, but stopped short of requiring developers to provide "30 plans for each development" or of promising to back commission members if they deny a floor plan simply because it is too uniform.

"I'd hate to see it come to that point," Councilman Hal Bailin said and added the commission and developers have worked in the past to ensure developments that are both economically possible and architecturally desirable.

Bonde said the problem of uniformity results from the rapid development of the city and noted houses in Upland are "selling at such a rapid rate, there is no opportunity to come up with new designs."

The problem is particularly prominent in developments by Mark

Community Legal Services

County residents pick board

Nomination and election of San Bernardino County residents to the governing board of the newly formed Inland Center Community Legal Services are set for a public meeting on Saturday, Dec. 4, from 2 until 4 p.m. in the downstairs community room of the San Bernardino County Public Library, Fourth Street and Arrowhead Avenue, San Bernardino.

Superior Court Judges Howard B. Weiner and John F. Ingro will conduct the meeting, sponsored by the San Bernardino County Bar Association and Legal Aid Society. The nominating and voting are open to all San Bernardino County residents who are not bar association member lawyers.

The bar association has two appointees to the 10-person body. The non-lawyer public then will name eight other members: four attorneys and four persons who are non-attorneys.

The entire 10-person delegation will join with 12 similarly designated persons from Riverside County communities to form the policy-making body for the federally-funded Community Legal Services Program.

The program will bring to both counties approximately $500,000 to supplement legal services to the poor in matters of civil law.

The Dec. 4 "Community Convention" is an important feature of the Legal Services Corporation program, providing for direct input by local bar associations and the general public.

Under federal mandate and the proposed by-laws of the new local agency, the Riverside-San Bernardino Governing Board will oversee major appropriations and policy matters, monitoring the quality and scope of services provided the public by staff lawyers, administrators, paralegals, and others.

Persons who wish to serve for terms of one, two or three years respectively on the Legal Services Governing Board should submit a written request for consideration to attorney Jan Goodman-Roberts at the Legal Aid Society and bar association office, 364 N. Arrowhead Ave., San Bernardino, 92401, or telephone (714) 888-6791 or 885-1986.

Both attorneys and lay-persons who are nominated and wish to serve should plan to be present for the balloting on Dec. 4. Anyone over 18 years of age and who is a resident of San Bernardino County may cast a vote.

New code requires addresses to be posted

A new ordinance requiring building numbers to be posted in a uniform manner became effective Wednesday within the unincorporated areas of San Bernardino County.

San Bernardino County Ordinance 2108 requires residents to conspicuously post numbers on each building. If more than one building is located on a lot, the assigned number shall be posted on the principal building or building nearest the street.

Building numbers must be no less than three inches in height, with a corresponding width. Numbers and background colors must be of a contrasting shade. Numbers must be visible and identifiable from the street on which the building fronts.

When numbers on a building would not be visible from the street due to setback (distance from street) or would otherwise be obstructed, street numbers may be posted on an independent structure such as a post. Numbers posted on mail boxes are acceptable if they meet with size requirements, and no more than one mail box is installed on a given lot.

Numbers painted on curbs are not acceptable as a substitute to the requirements, however, they are encouraged in addition to the required posting. Alternate methods for posting can be approved by the enforcing agencies which will be the fire department having jurisdiction, provided the alternate method meets with the intent of the ordinance.

The ordinance is intended to assist fire, police, ambulance or other emergency services to promptly locate persons in need of emergency services, especially in serious medical emergencies when seconds count.

Individuals living outside incorporated cities who do not know their building numbers can contact their fire department or the County Planning Department, House Numbering Division, 1111 E. Mill St., San Bernardino 92415, telephone 383-1303, for building number applications.

Anyone who wants a copy of the ordinance can contact the county clerk of the board of supervisors, 175 W. Fifth St., San Bernardino 92415.

100,000th phone installed

The Ontario area reached a milestone when the 100,000th telephone was installed by the General Telephone Co.

There are a total of seven communities within the telephone company's Ontario Division: Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Etiwanda, Guasti, Mt. Baldy, Ontario and Upland.

"We are presently serving a population of more than 150,000 which means a ratio of 10 telephones for every 15 residents in the area," Eckrote said.

General Telephone Company has a total investment of more than $70 million in the Ontario area, with over 375 employees. Highlighting the current growth picture is a $30 million long distance switching center at 207 W. D St. which is scheduled for operation in late 1978.

Here's something of value to stash away in your attic.

This may not look like much, but it's one of the best things you can store up there.

It's insulation. And whether you use this kind (which gets blown into place by professional contractors) or the kind you can roll out yourself, you're going to save money and energy.

Insulation keeps your home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. And it can cut the amount of gas you use for heating up to 20%.

Don't wait. Insulate now.

The less gas you use, the more money you'll save. And with energy costs rising rapidly, you'll be saving more all the time.

The Town Crier

Mountain Ave. computers?

To help citizens of Upland better understand their city's responsibilities and services and to get answers on city government, John Shoemaker, Upland community relations coordinator, is bringing City Hall to the people through the courtesy of the Upland News. The column "The Town Crier" is designed to be informative on all issues of city government.

To reach "The Town Crier," write: Community Relations, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, CA 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

QUESTION: Can you tell me what is taking place with the computer for the stoplights on Mountain Avenue? J.W.

ANSWER: The report I have is that the traffic signal computer contractor for the Mountain Avenue signal project is conducting class training this week and part of next week on the operational and functional aspects of the Econolite System TCS-30 Computer, Telemetry and Signal Controller Systems. Six members of the Engineering Department are attending these sessions. Also attending are two maintenance people from our Traffic Signal Maintenance Company. It is essential that the engineering staff thoroughly understand this computer system in order to make the best use of its capabilities. This computer system offers a wide range of options and various settings which must be adjusted to the optimum setting for each traffic location. This system will be adjusted as traffic patterns change on Mountain Avenue in order to maintain an optimum traffic flow.

At the same time Econolite technicians are working on the computer both here at City Hall and out at the signal locations. They can communicate with one another via phones installed in each traffic controller and a special phone on the computer desk at City Hall. There are numerous electronic problems that need to be solved in first making a new system operational. The technicians are trying to resolve all the problems at 16th Street and Mountain Avenue to make a firm connection between that intersection and the computer. That intersection was chosen because it is the most distant from the computer and thereby being the best test for the interconnect system. Recent problems at 16th Street and Mountain Avenue with the flashing signal have been attributed to this work.

QUESTION: Can you please tell me the procedure to present information to the City Council and are there any guides as to how to present information to the council? P.D.

ANSWER: First, information to come before the City Council should be in the city clerk's office on the Wednesday before the council meeting so that the clerk has sufficient time to put it on her agenda and go over it with the city manager, before the final agenda is printed. Material to go before council must be in the office of the clerk five days prior to the regularly scheduled council meeting. The City Council meets on the first and third Mondays of each month at 7 p.m. in the council chambers at Upland City Hall. If that Monday is a holiday, generally the meeting is then called for the following Tuesday.

Every citizen enjoys the right to a fair hearing by the City Council or the Planning Commission. Hearings serve to clarify issues and enable the council or commission to understand community opinion. Therefore the following guidelines have been prepared as an aid so citizens will be able to express their opinions briefly and clearly before the council or commission and thereby increase the effectiveness of their presentation.

- The order of your statement:
- 1. Your name and address.
- 2. The organization which you represent or the location of your property if you have a property interest.
- 3. Your position — for or against.
- 4. A statement of all pertinent facts within your knowledge.
- 5. The reasons for your position based upon relevant subject matter.

- The presentation of your statement:
- 1. It is important for you to discuss only those matters relating to your hearing and to tie your discussion of the facts directly to the decision you wish the council or commission to reach.
- 2. Avoid gossip or repetition. You should attempt to rely upon facts within your own knowledge. A concise non-repetitive argument is impressive.
- 3. Organize your presentation within the prescribed time limits and, upon completion, refrain from additional comments unless requested by the council.
- 4. Remember to speak clearly.

QUESTION: Can you tell us the duties of the civil engineering assistant? — M.S.

ANSWER: Upland's civil engineering assistant is Roger Johnson. He has been employed by the city for 19 years, resides in Upland with his wife Marilyn, and has two teenagers at home, Marian, age 17 and Allen, age 15. Roger many years ago graduated from Hemet High School and next semester will be attending Chaffey College.

A civil engineering assistant, under administrative direction, acts as project coordinator and inspector on major public works projects to insure compliance with plans and specifications, city codes and other applicable rules and regulations; coordinates the various phases of the projects with contractors, utility companies, federal and state agencies and city forces; calculates amount of work done and progress toward project completion, completes necessary forms and notifies concerned agencies; contacts people who might be affected by proposed construction or improvement projects and explains the nature of the project, proposed completion date and related information; investigates citizen complaints relating to public works projects or activities of the Engineering Department; acts as the city's representative in meetings with public utility companies designed to promote better coordination and cooperation; and may assist in the inspection of small public works projects.

Health News . . . You Can't "Wear Off" A Catch In The Back

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

It is not a rare occasion that you meet another individual who seems to be favoring a shoulder or who sits or walks "carefully" in a semi-hunched position.

They complain of a "catch" in the back.

If you suggest they seek professional care for their problem they claim it will go away. "It will 'wear off,'" one such person puts it. You can't just "wear off" a rheumatic pain, any more than you can expect a car frame to straighten out by itself after an accident.

You must treat the cause of pain to eliminate it. What causes these pains?

Falls, jars, or twists may cause the bones to slip slightly out of place and irritate the nerves passing out between them. This is the basic cause of pains through the lower back and hips. The irritation in the nerve is always present, but the pain becomes noticeable when there is an alteration in the blood due to weather changes, colds, flu or some infection in the body. A slight injury may also affect the already sick nerve.

Unless the bony misalignments are corrected by chiropractic adjustments, or an accidental adjustment, the condition may progress into sciatica, various forms of paralysis, or some organic disturbance, even though the pain may not be present constantly to warn you.

(Note: More than 700 leading insurance companies recognize claims as that available at our office for specialized treatment for back pains as described above.)

(Note: Dr. Helzer maintains chiropractic offices at 108 East H Street, Ontario, telephone: 983-1711.) (C) ARS 1976

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

The Ruddy Duck in Claremont really has something to quack about this week. Master Chef Jon du Bois, a friend of Duck owner Wayne Pedersen, has agreed to help Wayne organize his kitchen into one which will produce superb cuisine. I say "agreed" because Jon is a consultant who has solved food related problems for many restaurants in the United States. And he has credentials like you wouldn't believe! He is one of only 79 men in the world who, by virtue of their knowledge and experience, may wear the black hat signifying membership in the prestigious Black Hat Society of the "La Toque Noire," a society of Master Chefs.

Now with a buildup like this, you'd expect a prissy little Frenchman, meticulously flicking lint from his starched whites, affixing his interviewer with a condescending "but be quick about it" smile.

I'm glad Jon didn't live up to my expectations.

He's quite personable, as a matter of fact, and soon we were talking quite casually. Jon (his American name is Jean Wood) has been up to his elbows in food preparation since he was eight years old. He has not only served as executive chef of some notable restaurants (Jonathan Club in Los Angeles, Victor Hugo in Long Beach, Sheraton Ritz Hotel, Midwest Section), but he has continued his studies of food and food management in the U.S. and in his native France. He is a graduate of the Culinary School of the Cordon Bleu in Paris, France, and is an active member of the Los Angeles based Chefs de Cuisine.

Pedersen, a chef himself, says that Jon is already enhancing the Claremont dinner house's duck and lamb offerings. And after talking with the man in the black hat, I'm eager to try Duck Ala du Bois!

Asmara (which means "dark one" in arabic) is one of the belly dancers at Jim Francke's Castle Restaurant on Foothill in north Pomona. I recently found out more about her and the art of belly dancing.

Though she was once so shy that she pulled the drapes closed when she danced, Asmara decided one day that she really liked dancing. So, overcoming her fears she enrolled in a belly dancing school in San Francisco.

"At first I was hopeless," she says. "I guess I had a nice enough stomach, but it was too flat. I had no muscles, nothing to revolve."

She tried overeating in a misguided attempt to develop her belly, to make it fuller and rounder like her dance teacher's stomach. But the only thing she developed that way was the cramps. Setting her on the right track, her teacher stressed the importance of proper breathing and muscle control, admonishing Asmara to "keep practicing your breathing, keep exercising your belly muscles. Eventually you will develop a more prominent belly — and it will all be muscle."

And it worked. After five months, Asmara discovered that her waist was larger and very muscular, and she's been revolving her belly for the past seven years to the delight of customers in restaurants like Ala Sultan, The Seventh Veil, Haji Baba's and, now at The Castle (5:30 p.m. Sun.-Tues.-Wed.-Thurs.) Actually, Asmara and several other dancers revolve, I mean, rotate, I mean, take turns dancing there on a revolving (there's that WORD again!) schedule.

WORLD SERVICE APPEAL — Since the first Seventh-day Adventist student missionary went to Mexico in 1959, an increasing number of young volunteers have helped as nurses, teachers, builders, dental assistants, agricultural workers and in other jobs in 38 overseas countries. The Covina Adventist church is conducting a fund raising campaign, World Services Appeal, to fund these programs for the next year.

Local churches to hold special Advent service

Churches in the La Verne - San Dimas area will combine for a Community Advent Service 7 p.m. Sunday at the La Verne Church of the Brethren, Bonita and E streets, La Verne.

Theme for the service will be "The Miracle of Birth" with Melvin DeVries, pastor of the Valley Community Drive-In Church in San Dimas delivering the meditation. DeVries is president of the Bonita Ministerial Fellowship, which is the sponsoring organization of this event held last year for the first time.

Eight congregations will be represented and the choirs of five of the churches will present individual anthems. All the choirs will combine for two anthems — "Carol of the Bells," featuring the Bell Choir of the La Verne Church of the Brethren directed by Ruth Lininger, and "A Christmas Collection," composed by Steve Engle, director of music at the La Verne Church of the Brethren. Engle will direct the combined choirs. Ralph R. Travis will be the organist for the service.

Other clergy participating in the liturgy are: Father Michael Brooks of Holy Name of Mary Roman Catholic Church, J. Edward Burn of the San Dimas United Methodist Church, Vernard Eller of the Fellowship Church of the Brethren, Osvaldo B. Garcia of Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, Hubert Jenewein of the San Dimas Wesleyan Church, J. Thomas Taylor of the La Verne United Methodist Church, and Leland Wilson of the La Verne Church of the Brethren.

Choir directors and anthem titles are: Emily Anderson for the San Dimas United Methodist Choir, "O Holy Night"; Steve Engle for the La Verne Church of the Brethren Choir, excerpts from "A Christmas Patchwork" composed by Engle; Gerald Klein, for the Holy Name of Mary Roman Catholic Church Choir, "Gesu Bambino"; Phil Mungus for the Valley Community Drive-In Church Choir, "Born in a Manger"; and Carolyn Schultz for the La Verne United Methodist Choir, "Glory to God in the Highest."

...is coming soon!

Start your retirement account before then — We can help you get a break on this year's income tax!

Open a tax-sheltered retirement account at Pomona First Federal Savings before Dec. 31st, and save on 1976 taxes!

You're eligible for a Keogh Account if you're self-employed, or an Individual Retirement Account if your firm doesn't offer a retirement savings plan. Either way—the funds you set aside before Dec. 31st are deductible from 1976 income! Taxes on those funds—and the interest they earn—are deferred until the funds are withdrawn at retirement, when your taxable income will probably be less.

Visit Pomona First Federal today—ask your Financial Friend for all the details. But hurry—you only have until Dec. 31st to save on this year's taxes!

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

World Service Appeal

Adventist Church conducts campaign

The Seventh-day Adventist World Service Appeal is now in progress.

Licensed, identified volunteers from the Covina Adventist Church, to the accompaniment of Christmas carols, will be calling on San Dimas, La Verne and Walnut residents Dec. 4-18 to help raise $2,736 — the Covina church's share of the 1976 - 77 North American goal of $8,700,000.

"The funds are used for a world program which includes medical, educational and welfare projects bringing relief and uplift to humanity and a living Christ to the world," explained Jerry Sorensen, Covina church pastor.

Besides large scale disaster and famine relief, the denomination sponsors camps for the underprivileged, blind and multi-handicapped, hospitals, clinics, mobile health units specializing in free health related services, temperance ministry, stop smoking and alcoholic clinics and other services.

Added to services in North America are the pressing needs in other countries including clinics, dispensaries, medical planes and river launches, leper colonies, orphanages and mission schools — often the only facilities available to large populations.

The 2.5-million member denomination operates the largest Protestant foreign mission program, covering 520 languages in the 193 countries in which work is established, Sorensen said. Ninety-three per cent of the costs are met by tithes and offerings of Seventh-day Adventists, and supplemented by funds gathered in the World Service Appeal.

"While the spirit of giving is in the air," said Sorensen, "the church invites others to join hands with us in this humanitarian and spiritual undertaking."

Continued inflation makes it necessary to raise a larger amount this year. Needs increase, disaster, famine and strife increases and the dollar buys less — thus the church must increase its giving. Through your contribution to the World Service Appeal you can help us meet this pressing need. May God bless you as you give."

For information or to donate to the World Services Appeal, call Marie Toennieson, Covina church lay activities secretary, (714) 593-1889.

Living With Your Heart

Low sodium diets

By Wallace G. Frasher, M.D., President American Heart Association, Greater Los Angeles Affiliate

The holidays are upon us and your doctor has put you on a low sodium diet. You feel as low as your sodium tolerance.

Don't! There's now no need to feel you'll be missing out on all the special holiday foods because there's really an easy way of controlling your problem.

Of course, the new regimen your doctor put you on is going to take some planning and getting used to, but the chances are that in a few weeks you'll feel so much better that you'll bless your diet, not curse it.

And believe it or not, the time will come when you won't have a desire to reach for the salt shaker.

What is sodium, anyway? Many people seem to think that salt and sodium are the same thing. They're not.

If you recall your chemistry, table salt is sodium chloride (NaCl) which is a combination of sodium and chloride. Salt is 43 per cent sodium and 57 per cent chlorine. The next time you go shopping at the market or pharmacy, read the labels of products you buy and you'll see either the chemical symbol for salt, or the words salt, soda or sodium.

Sodium is found in varying degrees in nearly everything we eat and drink, including water. In most of its forms, sodium can neither be seen, felt or even tasted, except when combined with chlorine to form sodium chloride which gives the distinctive salt flavor. It is highest in meat, fish, poultry and dairy products.

Patients often ask me why they must cut down on their sodium intake. I don't want to give the impression that sodium is a villain for it is actually a very important mineral, essential to plant and animal life, and a vital component of the human being's tissues and body fluids. If you're well, the excess sodium is not a problem. The body simply discards it through the kidneys.

In certain conditions, however, the system cannot rid itself of this excess mineral. It stays in the tissues and retains water there, too, causing swelling (edema) and other symptoms. If you have high blood pressure, this condition is made worse by too much sodium.

For several years, the American Heart Association has annually published a holiday menu. It's different each season and the new one features a traditional dinner — with a flair. Everyone would enjoy it even if they aren't watching their waistlines or trying to cut down on sodium intake.

A colorful green and gold salad of avocado and grapefruit wedges starts off the feast. The ever popular turkey with old fashion corn bread dressing is accompanied with specially prepared peas in the pod and baked or scalloped onions. Date nut muffins are offered and dessert is a delightful cranberry soufflé. It's all in the manner of preparation and seasoning that makes this holiday menu unique.

Other recipes and menu ideas can be found in the new paperback edition of the American Heart Association Cookbook, recently enlarged from that best seller. It contains hundreds of recipes — including more meatless and vegetarian dishes — and each with its own calorie count.

You'll learn how to adapt your own recipes to be lower in fat, sodium and cholesterol.

There are special sections on preparing food for box lunches, dollar saving shopping tips and even what to eat when dining out or traveling.

I found the brand new section on how to read food labels particularly informative and a must for every shopper. You'll find this exciting new cookbook at your favorite bookstore.

Your holiday menu may be obtained — free of charge — by writing or calling the Heart Association in your area.

Tax hints

Save money by paying early

By The California Society of Certified Public Accountants

Generally, in California, real property taxes are due in two installments: one-half on Dec. 10 and one-half on April 10 of the following year. Paying the April 10, 1977 installment in 1976 can possibly save income taxes.

California income taxes can also be prepaid. This can be done in two ways:

1. You can estimate the balance due on your 1976 California income tax return. The estimated balance due can be paid on April 15, 1977 or it can be prepaid on or before Dec. 31, 1976.

2. Those taxpayers making estimated tax payments are generally required to pay their fourth and final installment of 1976 taxes on Jan. 15, 1977. By paying the final installment two weeks early on Dec. 31, 1976, the deduction can be claimed in 1976 rather than 1977.

These prepayments should be considered:

1. If the taxpayer is in a higher tax bracket in 1976 than in 1977; or

2. If the taxpayer is able to take advantage of the standard deduction in 1977, and if itemized deductions in 1976 will exceed the standard deduction.

You and Your Pet

Some medical terminology

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.
Manager
of Veterinary Services
Norden Laboratories
An informed pet owner is a better pet owner, and understanding some basic medical terms can help you to stay informed.

Here is a sampling of terms that could prove useful in reading about your pet and discussing its health with your veterinarian.

The term "clinical" refers to a condition that you can see or measure easily. A "clinical diagnosis" is one based on outward, recognizable signs. Changes in a pet's behavior, loss of appetite, fever or paralysis are, for example, clinical signs of disease. A "laboratory diagnosis" on the other hand, is one that is based on an evaluation of tissue or material taken from the animal, such as blood or urine samples.

Diseases and conditions that attack your pet may be "acute" or "chronic." Acute symptoms are severe and immediately noticeable. Chronic problems may or may not be clinically apparent, but they recur frequently and continue for a long period of time.

Your veterinarian may use terms to describe your pet's condition which have endings such as "itis" or "osis." "Itis" usually means inflammation. Otitis is an ear inflammation and tracheo-bronchitis is an inflammation of the upper respiratory tract, also known as kennel cough. Conjunctivitis is an inflammation of the lining of the eye.

"Osis," on the other hand, refers to a disease condition that will usually get worse without treatment. A dog with parasitosis is infected with parasites such as worms, for example.

Your veterinarian may indicate that your pet's disease is "infectious," which means that germs or viruses causing the disease can be transferred from one pet to another.

An "organic" disease, on the other hand, is not caused by germs or viruses, but originates within the animal itself and may be inherited.

Canine distemper is an infectious disease that is caused by a virus. Canine hip dysplasia is a hereditary organic condition that involves improper development of the ball-and-socket joint of the hip.

To summarize the points we have made, your dog could exhibit "clinical" signs that include intense scratching with crusts developing over areas of dry, thickened skin. Your veterinarian may take a scraping of the affected area and observe it under a microscope to arrive at a "laboratory diagnosis." He or she might identify a certain mite that has burrowed into the pet's skin causing a kind of "dermatosis."

Your veterinarian could then prescribe an effective treatment, asking you to confine your pet until the troublesome disease is cured, since it is highly "infectious."

I think you'll find these common medical terms helpful in discussing your pet's problems with your veterinarian. Feel free to ask your veterinarian about other terms you may not understand, because he or she appreciates an informed client. Your veterinarian will explain the situation in terms you can understand, helping you to be a better informed pet owner.

Boating tips

Unseasonably warm weather has extended California's boating season another few weeks. The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary advises all boaters to be especially careful the next few weeks. For that extra measure of safety, contact the Coast Guard Auxiliary for a free on-site courtesy motorboat safety examination. For information contact Jerry Hampel, 1708 Grier St., Pomona.

Thyroid gland

A thyroid gland that works too much or too little eventually will damage the heart, says the American Heart Association.

Anatomical donor stickers at DMV

People interested in donating body organs and tissues for transplant can obtain anatomical donor stickers from the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), Upland and Pomona offices.

The donor stickers are automatically mailed to all drivers whose licenses are due to be renewed.

The sticker must be signed in the presence of two witnesses and is attached to the reverse side of the driver's license or DMV identification card.

The donation becomes effective at the signer's death and can be revoked any time prior to death by just peeling the sticker off the license.

DMV offices are open 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays. The Upland office is at 222 S. Mountain Avenue and the Pomona office at 211 Erie.

Beans in the pot

Perfect supper dish!

It was the late Don Marquis who promised, "There will be no beans in the Almost Perfect State." Obviously Mr. Marquis had never tasted dried beans cooked unhurriedly in the electric slow cooker (or the old-fashioned bean-pot,) then given mouth-watering aroma with a measure or two of Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of Tabasco.

Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco step up the appetite appeal of beans, peas, chick peas and other legume concoctions. The nippy aromas of these esteemed seasoners tease the tastebuds, an important first step in readying the digestive system to make good use of the foods we eat. The creative cook will probably add other flavoring ingredients — onions, garlic, molasses, mustard, catsup, salt pork and brown sugar — as in the Glazed Baked Beans.

Beans Creole is another hearty main dish. Bacon, onion, and green pepper, a dash of Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco sauce simmered with the beans makes an excellent and satisfying flavor.

Glazed Baked Beans
1 pound dried marrow beans

Water
1 cup chopped onions

2 cloves garlic, minced
¼ cup unsulphured molasses

1 teaspoon powdered mustard

1 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons original Worcestershire sauce

2 tablespoons catsup

¼ teaspoon Tabasco

¼ pound salt pork, sliced

2 tablespoons brown sugar

Rinse beans. Place in a large saucepot with 7 cups water. Bring to a boil and boil for 2 minutes. Remove from heat and let stand, covered, for 1 hour. Stir in onions, garlic, molasses, mustard, salt, Worcestershire sauce, catsup and Tabasco. Bring to the boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until beans are almost tender, about 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Add boiling water if needed to keep beans moist. Spoon into a large bean pot or casserole. Arrange slices of salt pork on top of beans; sprinkle with brown sugar. Bake, uncovered, in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until top is glazed and pork is browned, about 1 hour.

Slow Cooker Method:

Rinse beans. Place in an electric slow cooker with 4 cups water. Cover and cook with heat control set on high until beans are tender, about 3 hours. Turn heat control to low. Add remaining ingredients to slow cooker; mix gently but well. Cover and cook for 4 hours.

YIELD: About 1½ quarts.

Beans Creole

1 pound dried baby lima beans

Water

½ pound bacon

½ cup chopped onion

½ cup chopped green pepper

1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce

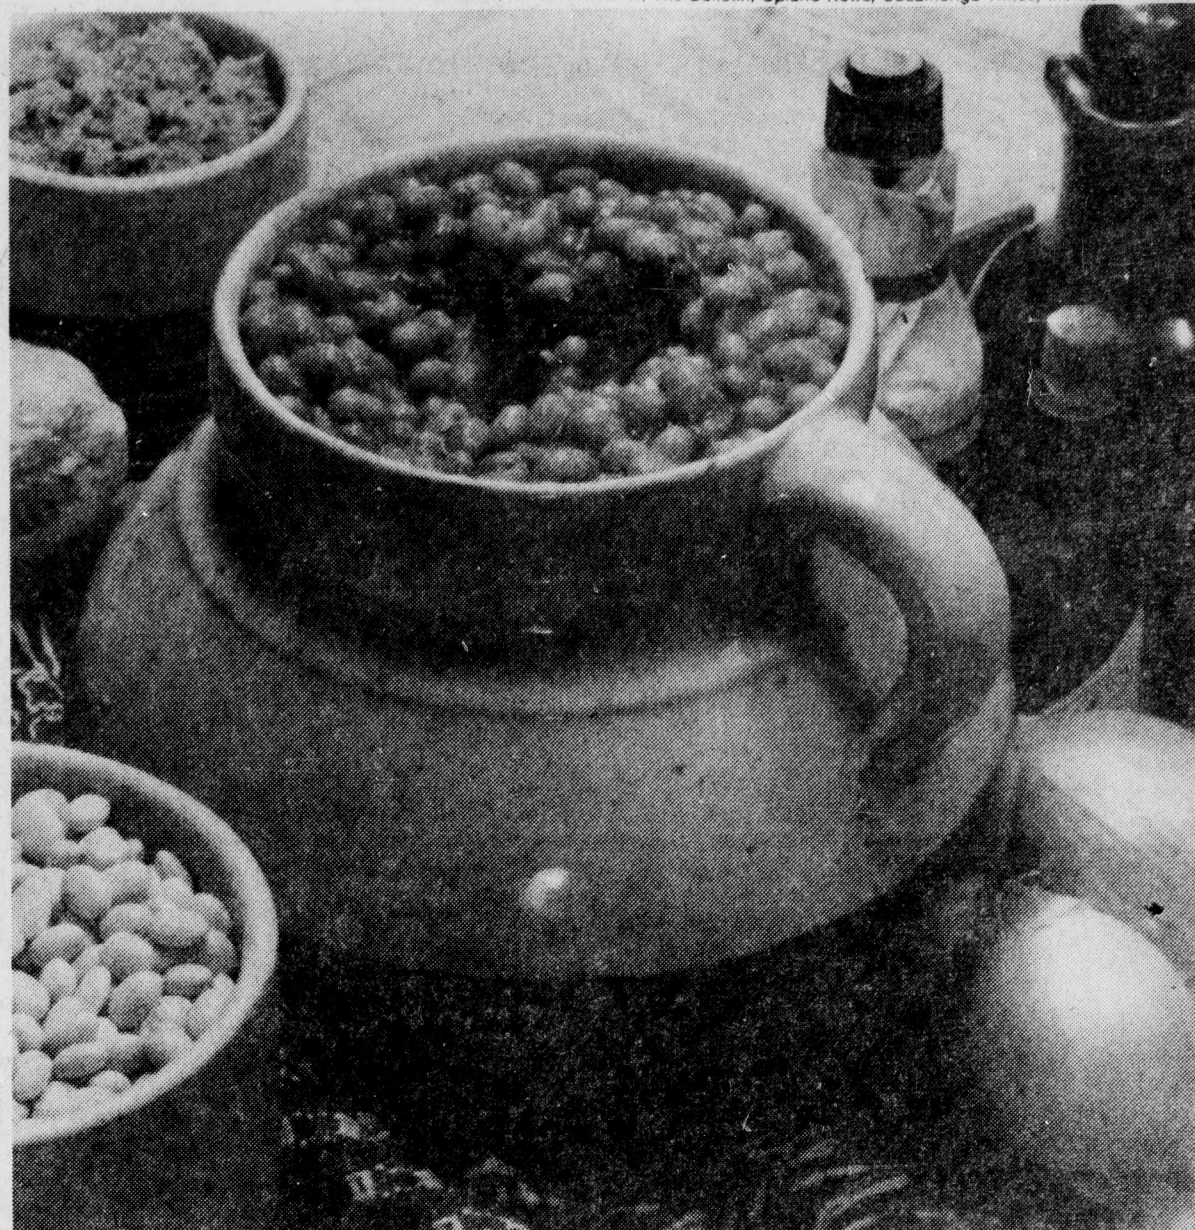

2 tablespoons brown sugar

1 teaspoon salt

3 tablespoons original Worcestershire sauce

¼ teaspoon Tabasco

Rinse beans. Place in a heavy large saucepot with 6 cups water. Bring to a boil and boil for 2 minutes. Remove from heat and let stand, covered, for 1 hour. Simmer beans in water, covered, until tender, about 2 hours. Meanwhile, in a large skillet fry bacon until crisp. Remove bacon and all but 1 tablespoon of the fat from the skillet; reserve bacon. Add onion and green pepper to hot fat; sauté until tender, about 5 minutes. Add to beans along with remaining ingredients; mix gently but well. Simmer, uncovered, until sauce is thickened and flavors are blended, about 10 minutes. Serve hot sprinkled with crumbled bacon.

SEASONED BEANS — Perfect dish for a Saturday or Sunday night supper is this crock of richly seasoned beans. There are lots of different flavorings in this pot of savory beans including Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco sauce. This also is a good winter picnic dish.

Source of vitamin C and iron

Potato boon to food budget

The conscientious grocery shopper is always on the lookout for special food buys.

One item you can't afford to pass by is the potato.

This fall's potato harvest is one of the largest in history and the plentiful supply in the market means prices are especially low.

A nutritional bonus is included in your economical potato buy. The potato is an excellent source of vitamin C and provides some B vitamins and iron to the diet.

What is especially appealing about this popular vegetable is that it contains only 90 calories per medium spud (about three per pound). That's a lot of good things for your money.

The potato's virtues also include its flexibility. An easily adaptable vegetable, it fits in well on any menu.

And, with this Fall's bountiful supply comes the opportunity to try out a variety of potato dishes.

Potato pancakes are one economical way to serve potatoes at any meal, but are particularly nice at breakfast. They are a warm, satisfying alternative to your morning regulars: toast, cereal, doughnuts or sweet rolls.

Potato pancakes are delicious topped with poached or scrambled eggs and served with bacon, ham, or sausage.

Easy to prepare, they let you enjoy breakfast with your family because they can be cooked ahead of time and simply reheated in the oven.

Serve potato pancakes at lunch or dinner too, with any favorite main dish such as savory pork roast. At today's prices you can't lose by including potatoes in any meal of the day.

Potato Pancakes

2 eggs
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon each pepper and baking powder
1 pound potatoes (about 3 medium) unpeeled
Cooking oil
Paprika

In bowl, whisk eggs lightly. Blend in flour, seasonings, and baking powder. Grate potatoes coarsely to measure 4 cups. Turn into egg mixture at once, and toss. Heat a thin layer of oil in skillet. For each pancake, drop a scant ¼ cup of mixture into hot oil, quickly spreading to 4 inch circle, with fork. Cook on medium high heat 2 to 3 minutes per side, or until lightly golden. Stir mixture between dippings. As pancakes are cooked, keep warm in low oven. To serve: Arrange on plates. Top with scrambled or poached egg; sprinkle with paprika. Serve with applesauce and favorite breakfast meat. Makes 12 pancakes.

Caspian Pilaf with vegetables and meat

The variety of pilaf or pilaf dishes becomes almost endless as it is adapted to the tastes of more than 170 nationalities across Central Asia. As an entree, pilaf is compatible with many kinds of meats, thus extending its appeal worldwide.

In Russia's Caucasus country near the Caspian Sea the man of the house often prepares pilaf with vegetables and meat as a special dinner for weddings or holidays. For seasoning, raisins and nuts are added, giving the pilaf a distinctive regional flavor.

The National Hot Dog and Sausage Council suggests this adaptation, using pork sausage seasoned with almonds, currants and pimiento stuffed olives.

Serve with a tossed lettuce and cucumber salad to which you may want to add a sprinkling of dill seeds to carry through in true Caucasus country style.

Caspian Pilaf

1½ pounds pork sausage
¾ cup chopped onion, fresh or frozen
3 Tbs. vegetable oil
1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
1 cup raw rice
3 cups chicken broth or stock

¼ teaspoon saffron
3 bouillon cubes, beef flavored
½ teaspoon ground pepper

½ cup blanched, slivered almonds

¾ cup sliced pimiento stuffed olives

1/3 cup currants

¾ cup chopped parsley

Brown sausage in skillet until cooked, turning frequently and breaking it apart into small clumps.

After meat is well cooked, drain grease and set aside. Sauté onions, garlic and rice in vegetable oil. When rice is nicely browned, add chicken broth, saffron, bouillon cubes and pepper. Bring mixture to a boil, lower heat, cover and simmer for 20 minutes or until rice is tender and all liquids have been absorbed.

While rice is cooking, place almonds in a shallow pan; bake at 400 degrees for 3-5 minutes. When rice is tender, add sausage, almonds, olives and currants. Mix well and simmer for 5 more minutes. Add chopped parsley and serve. Yield: 8 servings.

America's pioneer women learned to prepare excellent dishes using just a handful of ingredients.

Bread souffle was one favorite recipe, combining bread, cheese, eggs and milk to produce a hearty and nutritious meal.

Sunrise Souffle

7 slices white bread (Remove crusts and cut into squares)

1 pound sharp cheddar

cheese, grated

8 eggs, beaten

4 cups milk

1 teaspoon salt

2 Tbs. dry mustard

¾ pound thin sliced bologna

Dash Worcestershire sauce

Place all the ingredients in a glass 9 x 13-inch baking dish. Cover with foil and place in the refrigerator overnight. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 1 to 1½ hours. Yield: Approx. 8 servings.

Liver Sausage - Olive Toast

½ pound liver sausage, cut in ¼-inch cubes

1 Tbs. butter or margarine

1 teaspoon dry mustard

1 can (10 ounces) tomatoes (1 1/3 cups)

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Buttered toast.

½ cup sliced onion

1 Tbs. flour

¼ teaspoon salt

1/3 cup sliced pitted black olives

1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Sauté onion slowly in butter until tender. Blend in flour, mustard, salt. Add milk; cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add tomatoes, olives, Worcestershire sauce; heat. Add cheese; stir until melted. Fold in liver sausage; heat. Serve on buttered toast.

HOLIDAY ON ICE — The Ice Holidettes, a precision skating ensemble of 32 young skaters, will perform Dec. 7-12 when "Holiday On Ice" comes to the Long Beach Arena.

'Back to the Garden' due

It's a brand new season and a brand new play. Sid Smolen's pop opera "Back to the Garden" will premiere on the Mt. San Antonio College campus the first two weekends in December under the direction of guest director Antonia Zbrank.

"Back to the Garden" is the first of three major productions scheduled this year by the MSAC Players.

The experimental pop opera on death and immortality will be the Players' entry in the American College Theatre Festival this spring.

"Garden" will feature the combined talents of the MSAC Drama and Music Departments, with Smolen, who is an artist-in-residence at the College this year, as music director.

Composer Smolen has written many songs and has performed in night clubs around the country for a number of years. But "Garden" is his first full length production. Written in the contemporary idiom, Garden is a balance of words and music which are both thought-provoking and highly entertaining. The talented composer is equally proficient on guitar, clarinet, base and piano.

Director Zbrank, currently a theatre arts doctoral candidate at the University of Southern California, last year directed USC's production of Woody Allen's newest play, "Death." She has worked with the Dallas Theatre Center, performing the part of Emily in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," and with the Greek National Theatre.

The lead role of Adam will be played by Paul Krup, Smolen's singing partner, who will also be assistant music director. Gary Toops, MSAC music instructor, will serve as music conductor, with Gary Davis, drama instructor, as technical director, and Carter Doran, drama instructor, as production coordinator.

Eve will be portrayed by Cindy Yost, Hacienda Heights, with Susan Dabrowski, West Covina, doubling as the serpent and the ancient and Ric Thurnell, West Covina, as Cain.

Other members of the cast are David Giles, Diamond Bar, as the senator; Lesley Potts, West Covina, as the senator's aide; Al Smith, Covina, Franklin Barnabus, Tony Gonzalez, Baldwin Park, Conrad Barabus, Cindy Romo, West Covina, the announcer; Michael Hart, West Covina, the husband, and Debbie Beatty, La Puente, the wife.

Diane Cummins, West Covina; Sherry Lyons, La Puente; Alene Rosen, West Covina, and Donna Kotzian, West Covina, are chorus members. Becky Arvidsen, West Covina; Tanya Williams, Montclair; Ronnie Allen, La Puente, and Randie Hilliard, Diamond Bar, will be featured as the children.

"Garden" will be presented in the College's Little Theatre Fridays and Saturdays, Dec. 3, 4, 10 and 11. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets may be ordered by calling the Little Theatre, Ext. 236, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Christmas concert

Tickets for the annual Christmas Concert by the Pomona College Choir are now available at the Thatcher Music Building office (626-8511, Ext. 2242), on a reserved-only basis, for the three performances in Bridges Hall of Music on Saturday, December 11 at 8:15 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 12 at 3 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. Early reservations are advised.

The 140-voice choir, under the direction of William F. Russell, chairman of the Pomona College music department, will perform Benjamin Britten's Cantata "Rejoice in the Lamb," the antiphonal chorus "Hodie Christus natus est" by Giovanni Gabrieli, Bruckner's motet "Virga Jesse," and familiar songs and carols.

Religious Folk dramas at MSAC

Holiday pageant set

An early California Christmas will be featured at Mt. San Antonio College 4 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday when two premiere performances of "Espectaculo de Musica Navidena Californiana" will be presented in the Social Science Center Auditorium.

Composed and directed by the internationally known recording artist and ethnomusicologist Elisabeth Waldo, the pageant will feature choral, instrumental and dance interpretations of the Mexican and Spanish religious folk dramas of the American Southwest.

Featured performers will be the Pan American Ensemble, the Pan American Singers, film star Pedro Martinez, dancer Jaime Espinoza, soloists Elena Cervantes and Eleanor Valdes-Howell, and the Mt. San Antonio Concert Singers, directed by Hayden Blanchard.

The Mt. San Antonio Concert Singers are sopranos Alene Rosen and Pamela Brown; altos Cathryn Torell and Virginia Lea Anderson; tenors Howard Hori and Robert Smith; and basses Michael Naron and Matt Plumley.

The script was written by Ed Moreno, with special consultant Natividad Vacio. Visuals and production design are by Dale White Productions and John B. MacDonald.

Tickets, $4 for general admission and $2 for students, may be obtained through the MSAC Community Services Office, (714) 598-2811, ext. 361. Tickets may be charged to Master Charge and BankAmericard.

In the American Southwest, Spanish-Mexican religious folk theater flourished until 1861. The last public presentation of "Los Pastores" (California Shepherd's play) took place on the grounds of what is now the Pico House. At that time, it was just a vacant lot owned by the brothers Pio and Andres Pico.

"Los Pastores," sometimes called Pastorela, was introduced to Mexico by the Franciscan missionaries early in the years of the Conquest period. It was used to instruct the recently converted Indians on the mysteries of the Annunciation and the Birth of Christ. Based on the medieval "autos de fe" or mysteries, the Pastorela was a simple theatrical presentation. It was introduced to California by Father Florencio Ibanez, a Franciscan friar at Soledad Mission, in the early 1800s.

From its early simplicity, the Pastorela soon took on local color as the Spanish colonists, and even the friars themselves, added to each performance their own details of humor and buffoonery which in the end converted the evil Lucifer to a comedic devil.

"Pastorele" and "Posadas" became lengthy fiestas that anticipated the arrival of Nochebuena, or Christmas. Everybody participated every night. The period was a season for enjoyment, comradery and sharing.

After the conquest of California, in 1847, the traditional gaiety at La Plaza square died, and the custom of the Pastorela was slowly abandoned. Some representations of the Pastorela play took place in later years, but more out of nostalgia, and more as theatrical performances than as community events.

Fairground fun for December

POMONA — The Christmas season marks the end of another fun year at the Los Angeles County Fair, but by no means the end of the many interim activities which make the fairgrounds a focal point of year-around events.

Trailer rallies, game bird shows, a horse sale and rodeo are the featured attractions for the month of December.

The trailer park will be filled with four rallies: Dec. 3-4 the Southern California Silver Streak Club trailer rally; 10-11, the Kenskill Caravan Club and the K.O.G.S. trailer rallies, and Dec. 17-18-19 the Rovin Highlanders' rally.

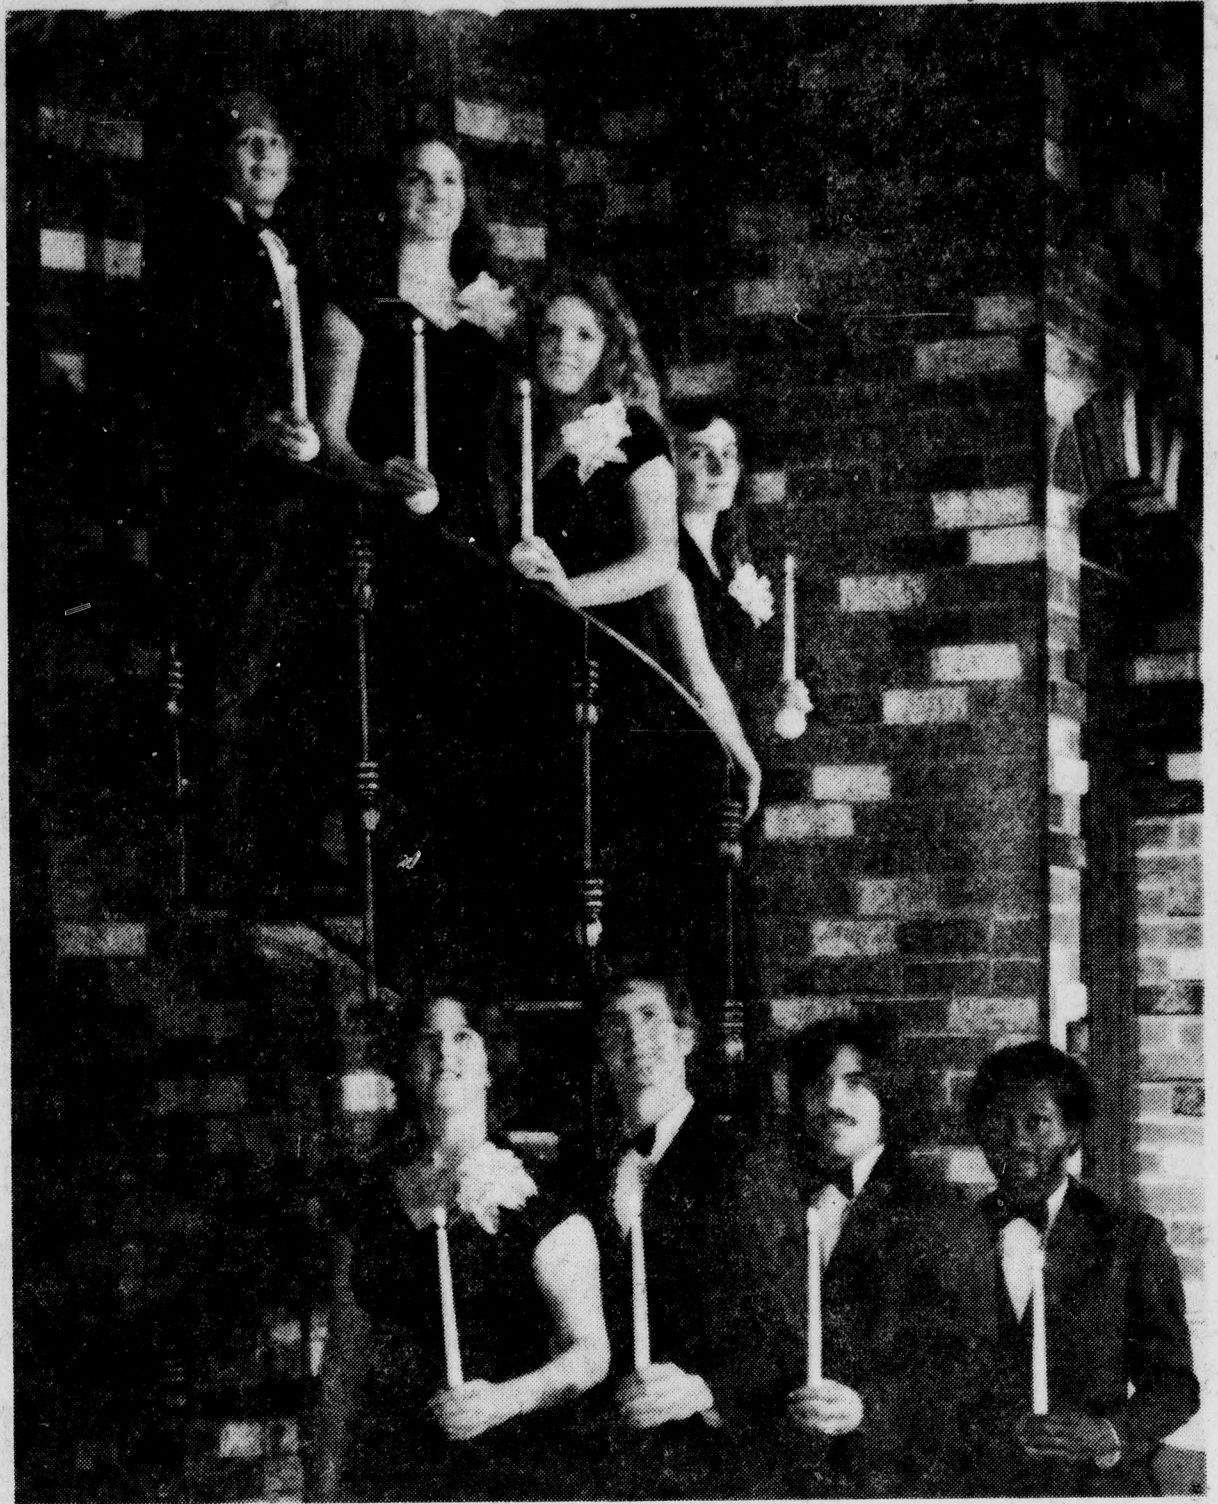

Small stock and bird shows will fill a portion of a month long activity schedule. Dec. 3-4 will find the Southern California King Club's pigeon show in 8-A beginning at 12 noon; 4-5, the Pacific Coast Bantam Club's Bantam show, building 8; the San Gabriel Valley Rabbit Breeders show, Dec. 5, 9 a.m. in building 8, Dec. 11-12.

Equestrian events will include a Royale Appaloosa sale in the Carnation Ring, Dec. 4-5 beginning at 1 p.m., and a rodeo sponsored by the Pomona Police Officers Association Dec. 11. This huge rodeo will be held in the Fair's Grandstand, and will start at 2 p.m.

Revolving around the holiday season, will be the annual First Baptist Church carol sing. Being held in building 7A, the "Round-The-Table" sing is expected to attract 10,000 people Dec. 10-11-12.

New Year's Eve will find Building 8A filled with newcomers of the new year with dancing beginning at 8 p.m.

Always the center of many year around events, the Los Angeles County Fair wishes everyone a fun-filled holiday season.

(bottom, from left) Nancy Toedtman of Ontario, and Uplanders Ross Lehman, Jeff Tobin and Richard Frazier. The program, directed by Joyce Shannon, will feature music set to a Gothic idiom, including "A Ceremony of Carols" by English composer Benjamin Britten.

PATRIOT'S AWARD DINNER — Bob Hope will be guest of honor Dec. 7, Pearl Harbor Day, at the Patriot's Award dinner conducted by the Congressional Medal of Honor Society at the Century Plaza Hotel, Los Angeles.

Choir to sing 'Messiah'

The traditional holiday presentation of Handel's "Messiah" will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Gardiner Spring Auditorium on the Chaffey High School campus, Ontario.

Peter Hettinga will again direct the 70-voice Oratorio Society in the famous Christmas oratorio. Written in 1741, the music has thrilled and inspired millions over the years.

Prior to the singing of the "Messiah," Willene de Groot will play Christmas music on the large auditorium's organ as a prelude.

Soloists in the oratorio will be Luana Rose de Groot, soprano; Kathy Mary Underwood, alto; Gerett de Vries, tenor, and Klaas Volbeda, bass.

Miss De Groot is a graduate of Biola College, La Mirada, where she was a vocal music major. She earned her bachelor's degree in music from USC this year.

Miss Underwood has been a soloist in Southern California churches for the past 10 years. She is currently the alto soloist at the First Baptist Church in Pasadena.

Over the past several years, she has sung concerts and recitals in Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia and Italy.

Miss Underwood was a finalist in both the Metropolitan and San Francisco Opera auditions in 1972. She continues to be actively involved in opera and oratorio throughout the Southern California area.

De Vries is a graduate of the University of California, Davis, with a doctorate in veterinary medicine. He was soloist with the Sacramento Choral at the International Festival of Song in Barcelona, Spain, in 1975. Currently he is singing with the Louis Ronfeldt Chorale and is a soloist in many churches. He also is studying voice with Dr. Jane O'Connell of Scripps College.

In January, De Vries will be singing with the House of Power Choir in the Garden Grove Community Church.

Volbeda of Ontario is a veteran soloist who received his training in the Netherlands from teachers in the Royal Dutch Conservatory in Amsterdam. Volbeda was a member of the famed Bach Choir of Holland. He is noted for his solo work in Brahms' "Requiem" and other oratorios. He also has performed with other Southern California mass choirs.

Director Hettinga is a native of the Netherlands and holds degrees from the Royal Organists Society and the Royal Society of Choir and Orchestra Directors.

Since coming to this country in 1948, Hettinga has served Reformed and Christian Reformed churches locally as choir director and organist. Hettinga assumed the direction of the Oratorio Society in 1970 when the founder, the late Earle S. Blakeslee, retired.

The presentation of the "Messiah" is open to the public free of charge.

The first part of the oratorio deals with the prophecies of Christ and the Nativity. The second section deals with the crucifixion and the third part deals with the resurrection.

This Oratorio Society is made up of local citizens, who volunteer their time and talents each year to make this performance possible.

Avoid yuletide tragedy

Have a safe Christmas

It is ironic that the very objects that brighten up the Christmas holiday season can cause disaster if used in a careless fashion. Decorative lights, so instrumental in show-casing Christmas trees and homes, should be purchased wisely and used correctly. Underwriters Laboratories suggests that you supplement the yuletide spirit with close attention to the following safety measures.

Do not use more than the recommended number of lights in one circuit.

—Before plugging in your lights, inspect all wiring insulation for possible signs of deterioration — especially if the wiring has been stored for a long time.

—Check each set of lights for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires, or loose connections. Equipment that you determine is unsafe should be discarded immediately.

—Always turn off decorative lights when you retire or leave your home. A short circuit in any of this equipment could cause a fire.

—Christmas decorations are natural attention-grabbers for children. Don't let them play with any electrical fixtures.

—Use rubber light socket gaskets when provided, and replace if needed.

—Never use a regular string of lights on a metal tree — a breakdown in the wiring insulation could make the tree electrically "live." Use a spotlight to illuminate a metal tree.

—Outdoor-use, weather-proof cords and lighting strings should be used when decorating the exterior of the home. The UL label will indicate that the light string or cord is suitable for outdoor use. Fasten outdoor lights securely to a firm support, such as a wall or tree, to protect them from wind damage.

The selection of a tree, whether it be natural or artificial (plastic), is a crucial matter. Artificial trees (plastic) should bear the UL label. Some unlabeled plastic trees burn with extreme vigor. A natural tree should always be checked for freshness. When buying a natural tree, the following rules should be heeded:

—Check for color and scent. A fresh tree is deep green in color and has a strong scent of pine.

—Be sure that the needles do not readily fall from the tree.

—The trunk butt of a fresh tree should be sticky with sap.

When trimming the tree, avoid using candles or other decorations that may ignite easily. Keep the tree away from the fireplace, radiator, or any other area where it will be exposed to heat. Heat may cause the tree to dry out, thus creating a fire hazard.

Christmas is traditionally a time of peace. Tread safely over the threshold of this holiday season.

WATERING — Be sure to keep the base of your live Christmas tree in water. Water will help prevent the tree from drying out readily and creating a fire danger. The tree will soak up water better if you cut a piece off the base just before putting it in water.

Bright greenery

An increased awareness of the energy crunch may certify the use of outdoor Christmas lighting in many communities — but that's not to say that outdoor Christmas decorating will not be cheery. Many Californians accustomed to decorating with lights have turned to planting red berries and shrubs as living Christmas symbols and decorating them with strings of popcorn and shiny ornaments.

Hollies are a traditional favorite for this assignment but any tree or shrub properly decorated becomes a living Christmas tree.

Conifers, or cone bearing trees, can be planted in attractive containers and used as portable Christmas trees for decorating balconies, porches or entryways. When Christmas nears they can be moved indoors for a week to add their living beauty to the festivities.

Care should be taken to water the tree during its stay indoors and not over-extend its stay in warm rooms that upset its dormancy.

Nurserymen will be stocking Spruces, Firs, Monterey Pines and Deodar Cedars to name a few of the living Christmas tree varieties. Most can be maintained in large containers year round if carefully managed, or they can be planted in the landscape as permanent plantings ready for outdoor decorating each holiday season.

For the best selection of varieties and symmetrical form, shop early. Whether you choose to enjoy the evergreen beauty outdoors now and move the tree for a short journey indoors for Christmas later, or you prefer to plant the tree now for outdoor decorating, you'll doubly enjoy your living Christmas tree next year and for several years after that.

Another favorite home decoration for the holidays is Holly.

Long a favorite from the time of the Romans to the present — the Holly (Ilex) crowns the end of the year with bright berries of red and glossy green foliage. Holly was used by the Romans in their celebration of the end of dark days and the gradual return of the sun, a day marked by the winter solstice when the Holly is in full bloom. Today, as then, Holly decorates the winter holidays with boughs and berries.

Raised beds show off plants

Gardening in raised beds serves many good purposes. On hillsides, it is almost a must to stabilize the soil and make maximum use of space available to garden in. On level land, raised beds add interest, depth and height to the landscape.

A raised bed is a natural showcase for plant material. Not only does the sharp definition between the bed and the rest of the terrain call attention to the plants, but they also are brought closer to eye level. Raised beds permit you to display tumbling, trailing plants which are lost when planted at ground level. Display ivy geranium, asparagus fern or star jasmine planted at the edge of a raised bed trailing downward and providing a soft, natural touch to the garden.

Raised beds on level land also help create a more intimate garden. This is especially true around the patio where the raised area can be capped with a bench. The bench provides outdoor seating and at the same time makes gardening in the beds a comfortable experience. Raised bed vegetable gardens also are handy — easy to water, weed and harvest.

Drainage is often a problem in gardening, but with raised beds you can guarantee good drainage. There's no problem with keeping good soil in raised beds either — for if you fill them with good soil to start with and add whatever humus material needed to make it absolutely perfect you will have easy gardening from now on.

Grow camellias, azaleas, gardenias and a host of your favorites easily in raised beds. Add cinerarias and cyclamen to raised beds in shady areas and roses, chrysanthemums and spring blooming bulbs to sunny beds.

Life-saving devices

Smoke detector advice offered

Consumers are being urged this Christmas season to purchase home smoke detectors, either for their own use or as gifts.

Manufacturers of these life-saving devices are filling newspaper columns and radio and television airwaves with advertising hoping to capture what appears to be a promising market.

Development of an economical residential smoke detector is the most significant advance in the fire safety field in many years, according to Trudy M. Daly, director of fire safety education for an insurance group.

If you are considering purchase of a detector, there are some things you should know, according to Mrs. Daly.

There are two basic types of smoke detectors: photoelectric and ionization.

When fire breaks out, the blaze produces invisible products of combustion. These gases spread quickly, reaching various parts of the house before smoke itself can be seen or smelled. An ionization detector, constantly "sniffing" the air, reacts immediately to these gases and sets off a loud alarm.

Photoelectric detectors, on the other hand, sound an alarm when smoke from a smoldering fire builds up sufficiently to cut across a beam of light from the detector.

Detectors are powered in two ways. Either they tie into the home electrical system, directly or through an outlet, or they are operated by batteries.

The wired-in model tends to be more economical and has an indicator light to show that it is in working order. There is no problem with battery replacements.

Installation, however, can be complicated and Mrs. Daly recommends it be done by an electrician.

Both the direct wiring and plug-in units would be affected by electrical interruptions and would not be "on the job" when power is out.

Battery models are slightly more expensive, but have advantages in that a power outage does not affect them and they can be easily installed by the home handyman. They sound an alarm, an interrupted beeping, when the batteries are getting weak. Batteries generally last about a year before replacement is necessary.

According to Mrs. Daly, the biggest question most homeowners face is how many smoke detectors should be purchased for a single residence and where they should be located. The answer, she says, depends on the size and layout of the house.

For minimum protection, one smoke detector should be placed on the ceiling immediately outside the sleeping area. The detector's most important function is to alert the family to nighttime fires.

Place the detector where there is a normal air flow. Mrs. Daly advises, not in a corner where there may be a pocket of dead air.

In a two-story house, where all bedrooms are located off an upstairs hallway, the detector should be placed in the center of the hallway ceiling, at the head of the stairs. For even better protection, install a detector on each level of the house.

"The best advice if you are uncertain about where to place a smoke detector," says Mrs. Daly, "is to consult your local fire department. And, when purchasing a smoke detector, you should look for the Underwriters Laboratory or Factory Mutual endorsement on the package," she adds.
